Term 1	Term 2	Term 3	Term 4	Term 5	Term 6
Roman Britain  In AD43, the full might of the Roman army landed on the beaches in Kent. It battled inland, storming through hillforts and chopping down anyone who stood in their way. However, they weren't just a destructive force - they built new forts, new settlements and roads. They spread their culture, language and laws. Over time, the people of Britain and the Romans mixed. The Britons began to live the Roman lifestyle and the Romans took on local customs.	Human Migration  Human Migration is the movement of people from one place to another place. Some migrations are forced, meaning the people moving (migrants) have no choice but to migrate. Some are voluntary, meaning the migrants have chosen to move from one place to another. Emigrant is the term used to describe a migrant who is leaving their source country, whilst immigrant refers to a migrant arriving in a host country.	Anglo-Saxons and Scots  The Anglo-Saxons came to England after the Romans left in the year 410. Nobody was really ruling all of England at the time - there were a lot of little kingdoms ruled by Anglo-Saxons that eventually came together as one country. The country was divided up into a lot of smaller kingdoms and sub-kingdoms that often fought with each other and against any invaders who tried to take over. By the 800s, there were four main kingdoms in England: Northumbria, Mercia, East Anglia and Wessex.	Rivers  Rivers provide us with food, energy, recreation, transportation routes, and of course water for irrigation and for drinking. River landscapes change as you go downstream from the source to the mouth. In the upper course of a river, steep gradients lead to rapid-flowing rivers. In the middle course, the river meanders through gentle gradients. In the lower course, the river braids over flat land.	Vikings  The Vikings came from all around Scandinavia (where Norway, Sweden and Denmark are today). They sent armies to Britain about the year 700 AD to take over some of the land, and they lived here until around 1050. Even though the Vikings didn't stay in Britain, they left a strong mark on society - we've even kept some of the same names of towns. They had a large settlement around York and the midlands, and you can see some of the artefacts from that today.	Natural Resources  Northern Chile has been thriving on the mining industry since the middle of the 19th century. It started with saltpetre which came to an abrupt end at the beginning of the 20th century when the synthetic production of nitrates was invented. The remains of the old production sites are still impressive and provide an insight into the hard life of the workers. Nowadays copper has taken over the role of Chile's main export good and is mined in giant open pits.

School uniform should consist of a white polo shirt, Academy jumper/cardigan with logo on, dark grey trousers/shorts/skirt/dress, grey or navy tights and/or white, grey or black socks and black school shoes please.
